

THE TUNNEL QUIZ

CONCEPT BRIEF FOR THE TUNNEL & CO.

A biweekly pub quiz at The Tunnel & Co., hosted by Pranav, every second Wednesday at 19:30. Free entry, teams of two to six, three rounds plus a rolling jackpot round. Built to fill the bar on a quiet night and give people a reason to come back every other week.

The format

- Three quiz rounds (general knowledge, music, pictures), then the jackpot round. The jackpot starts at €30 and rolls over until won.
- Runs 19:30 to roughly 21:45. Teams stay seated and drinking for the full evening.
- The hook: Tonight's Special. Every edition features a different guest co-host playing a comedic character for the night, drawn from the Amsterdam comedy scene. Each night stands alone, so first-timers are never behind, and regulars get a new show every time. Example billing: "Quizantha Williams: Candle Maker Extraordinaire".

What the bar gets

- Predictable midweek traffic: booked tables of 2 to 6, every other Wednesday, on a night that is otherwise quiet.
- A booking system is already live-ready: guests reserve on the quiz website, get an email confirmation, and nights are capped so the room never oversells. You get the guest list per edition.
- Fresh promotion every two weeks: a new Special means a new poster, a new chalkboard, and new social content, all in the house brand (site, posters, and an Instagram identity are already designed to the 2026 guidelines).
- Free entry keeps the barrier low; the commercial upside is drink sales from full tables over a two-hour sitting.

What we need from the bar

- The room, PA and a microphone from 18:45; quiz area reserved until 19:25 for booked teams.
- The chalkboard A-frame outside for the Tonight's Special billing on quiz days.
- Agreement on the winner's prize. Proposal: a bar tab for the winning team, amount fixed in advance so the cost is bounded.
- A home for the jackpot float and a named contact for quiz nights. How the jackpot is held and topped up: to agree together.

Risks, kept honest

- If a guest co-host cancels, the quiz still runs: the format works host-only, and there is a fallback character that needs no prep.
- Prize and jackpot exposure is capped by design; no percentage deals, no open-ended commitments.
- Proposal: trial the first three editions, then review together whether the numbers and the noise level work for the bar.

Next step: confirm the trial dates and the prize arrangement, and the first poster goes up the same week.
