

THE TUNNEL & QUIZ

TONIGHT'S SPECIAL: PERFORMER BRIEF

The Tunnel & Quiz is a biweekly pub quiz in Amsterdam West with a double-act twist: every edition features one guest co-host, billed as Tonight's Special, playing a character of their own invention for the night. This brief is everything you need. Prep should take you under an hour.

The premise

- You are the Special: a character on the menu for one night only. Example billing: "Quizantha Williams: Candle Maker Extraordinaire".
- Every night stands alone. No lore, no continuity, no watching previous editions. You inherit nothing and owe nothing.
- The co-host (Pranav) plays it straight and runs the quiz. You are expected to react to and comment on the questions asked. Since there is no projector to show and persist the questions, this will also be our opportunity to repeat and reemphasise them.

The frame: three fixed beats, the rest is yours

- The Entrance. You get a music cue and a menu-style introduction ("Every quiz needs a host. Ours comes with a side..."). Arrive in character.
- The Slot. You own one segment of the night: run one round your way, or guard the jackpot round and take the attempts on it personally. Your choice, agreed in advance.
- The Verdict. A short closing bit before final scores: your character's ruling on the evening and who they think won, before announcing the winners.

Everything inside those beats is your playground.

Rules of the road

- The quiz wins ties. If a bit and the game collide, the game goes first.
- Keep it positive and friendly.
- Bar-friendly material: it is a mixed room of teams, not a late club spot.

What we need from you, and when

- By the Friday before: your character's name plus one menu-style description line. It goes on the poster, the chalkboard, and Instagram.
- What you think would be a good intro music cue.

Logistics

- The Tunnel & Co., Bilderdijkstraat 186, Amsterdam. Arrive 18:45. Quiz runs 19:30 to roughly 21:45.
- This is a paid gig. For transparency, all profits after costs are split evenly between the co-hosts.

In short: one night, one character, three beats, a seated and mildly competitive audience, and a straight man to work against. Bring someone strange.