

THE TUNNEL QUIZ

CONCEPT BRIEF FOR THE TUNNEL & CO.

A biweekly pub quiz at The Tunnel & Co., hosted by Pranav, every second Wednesday at 19:30. Entry is €3 per person, or €15 for a full table of six. Teams of two to six, three rounds plus a rolling jackpot round. Built to fill the bar and give people a reason to come back every other week.

The format

- Three rounds of eight questions each, then the jackpot round. The jackpot starts at €30 and rolls over until won.
- Runs 19:30 to roughly 21:45. Teams stay for the full evening.
- The hook: Tonight's Special. Every edition features a different guest co-host playing a comedic character for the night, drawn from the Amsterdam comedy scene. Each night stands alone, so first-timers are never behind, and regulars get a new show every time.

What the bar gets

- Predictable midweek traffic: booked tables of 2 to 6, every other Wednesday.
- A booking system is already live-ready: guests reserve on the quiz website, get an email confirmation, and nights are capped so the room never oversells. You get the guest list per edition.
- Fresh promotion every two weeks: a new Special means a new poster, a new chalkboard, and new social content, all in the house brand (site, posters, and an Instagram identity are already designed to the 2026 guidelines).
- Entry sales cover the winner's prize; the bar's upside is drink sales from full tables over a two-hour sitting.

What we need from the bar

- The room, PA and a microphone from 18:45; quiz area reserved until 19:25 for booked teams.
- The chalkboard A-frame outside for the Tonight's Special billing on quiz days.
- Winner's prize: one drink per team member for the winning team, with the cost covered from the entry sales.
- A home for the jackpot float and a named contact for quiz nights. How the jackpot is held and topped up: to agree together.
